THE INTERNET INDIGO GIRLS DISCOGRAPHY: PART TWO

Here is part two of the discography, hopefully this will tide everyone over until the new live CD is released. If there is anything you have found on the list and are looking for, or any extras of things on the list that you would be interested in parting with, please drop me a line and I will see if I can match you up. I think you would be surprised at how available some things are.

Continuing with the Internet vein, the Lifeblood site is now up and running, the URL for it is <http://www.hidwater.com/lifeblood/>. The site has a ways to go until it is complete, but has really turned out nice. In addition to housing text versions of all the articles I have accumulated over the years (currently the site has them through the end of 1989, about 150 of over a 1000 that will eventually be represented there), it also has photos, guitar chords, lyrics, and we are working on a section that will contain a listing of all the shows that we are aware of and set lists and any other information on them that we have, probably including a place to leave messages if you have tapes to trade or are looking for a particular show. A couple of other sites that you might want to check out are Hidden Water - <http://www.hidwater.com/> (an outstanding site that has info on almost every Atlanta artist, including Michelle Malone, Wendy Bucklew, Mary Fortune Express, too many to list here), and the Indigo Girls home page which includes the discography that I have run here (I don't have the URL for it with me).

You can email me at usmer7ln@ibmmail.com until I get home from Minnesota (hopefully the end of July) and underdog@onramp.net anytime.

Take care and be well -
